

Your strong partner.

21.08.2018 / Georg Riva

Welcome to the Muller Martini blog

Muller Martini is joining the blogosphere! We are launching our new company blog, where we'll provide you with regular news, not only about the world of Muller Martini, but also about topics related to the graphic arts industry, industry events and selected highlights.

Considering all of the major changes affecting the graphic arts industry, it is important to keep abreast of events. Whether it's new production processes, exciting product ideas or innovative machine solutions – those who stay on top of the latest developments will keep their companies moving forward. And that's where, for example, our experts come in – Muller Martini's true capital. These experts, among others, with their extensive know-how gained from their daily work experience will share their knowledge with you. There will also be posts by external contributors, who will use their industry knowledge to inform you about market trends and new developments.

You may be particularly interested to know that since May 1 Muller Martini has had complete responsibility for sales and service for products manufactured by Kolbus, which it acquired end of January. So Kolbus machines and spare parts can now be ordered directly from Muller Martini. Have a look at our expanded product portfolio on our website, which also includes all of the necessary contact details.

The launch of the Muller Martini blog represents another step forward for us in an increasingly networked digital world. Although we remain committed to print products, there is nothing contradictory about our digital efforts. After all, each and every one of us – machine and system manufacturers, our customers as well as their end customers – will continually find creative ways to combine the advantages of both worlds and use them to our benefit.

Do you want to keep up with what's happening in the world of Muller Martini? Then subscribe to our blog newsletter here. The newsletter will summarize the current reports once a month for you and your data will not be used for other advertising purposes.

Enjoy reading our blog posts.

Best,
Georg Riva
Head of Marketing Services
Muller Martini AG

